Explains Secret Session.

Before going into secret session this morning Presiding Judge Cullen emphasized to the newspaper men the court were of the nature of a "private last night when they were run over near consultation between the members of Foster, nine miles south of Seattle, by a the court to formulate the views which racing autuomobile, driven by Lawrence will determine their final action," and Duke, said to be a nephew of James B. that this action would be taken in pub-

The fact that a member is privileged which opens Sunday in the Cathedral of to change his vote at the open session the Holy Cross. Fully five hundred of the court was emphasized today as priests and several thousand laymen will indicating that the informal ballots should not be considered as accurately showing the final result.

Explanations Probable.

Many of the court, besides the judges, are attorneys, and most of the legal for their manner of voting. There was no certainty this morning that all of the articles would be thrown into open court for a vote. As the injections of the attorneys for Gov. Sulzer to the various articles will be disposed of in the informal discussions. The discussion may end tonight and may not be completed before Friday, the last court day of the week. The trial has been in progress a month today.

The eight articles will be voted on separately in order. Not until after the eight articles have been voted on will a vote be taken as to whether Gov. Sulzer should be removed from office. Convic-tion on even one article would be sufficient ground on which to remove him but, on the other hand, conviction on al of the articles need not mean necessarily that he would be cast out. He might be found guilty and still be permitted to retain his office. The extreme penalty would be removal from office and prohibition from ever again holding a position of honor or trust under the state.

Method of Procedure.

The procedure of taking the final vote as required by the rules of the court, is as follows:

Each member will be called upon alphabetically to answer to each of the eight articles in their order the following ques-

An Interesting Parallel.

A parallel between the relations of the Huerta government in Mexico and the United States and the relations with the Zelaya government in Nicaragua in 1909 was being drawn today by men in close touch with Latin American affairs. It was said that the attitude of the United States toward Huerta is fast becoming very similar to that taken toward President Zelaya.

The memorandum sent by President similar in tone, although, naturally, very different as to details to that sent by guan charge d'affaires in December, in i in giving aim his passports and notify ing him that formal diplomatic relations between the United States and Nicaragus were at an end.

Although there has been no indication of an intention on the part of the presthe Huerta government, it was said in weil miormed circles that this is the next natural step to be taken. The effect of the action taken in 1900, as set forth in Secretary Knox s note to Charge Roderiquez, was to establish quasi-diplomatic relations between representatives of the Zeraya and revoluti ary factions and the United States. Speaking of the "factions in de facto control of certain territory, Secretary Knox set forth that both would be neld

No Official Becognition. Up to the present time the government here has held no recognized communication with the so-called constitutionalists in Mexico, although a number of notes bearing on the attitude of the United States have been sent to the State Department by representatives of the constitutionalists The President, having classed Huerta's acts as "uniawfui," it was said in we informed circles here today that it would be proper now for him to establish com munication with the constitutionalists for the purpose of protecting Americans in the territory controlled by that faction Inis would not have the effect, it was said, of recognizing the constitutionalists as beiligerents, which would give them the right to seize vessels at sea and certain other privileges. Although no particular case in Mexico has assumed the proportions of the killing of Cannon and Groce in Nicaragua, it was pointed out here that a number of Americans have been kined in Mexico. There has been no evidence, however, that any Americans have been deliberated by killed by either faction. Rebel Forces Nearing Juarez.

Word was received by constitutiona ist representatives here today that two constitutional.st forces are drawing hear Juarez, across the Texas border from El Paso. One of the forces is now at Paimas, and the other at Ascension, it was said, and it was believed that an attack on Juarez is contemplated. Juarez, the scene of stirring fights during the Madero evolution, has been free from trouble report was without foundation or that

Persons in Washington in close touch with the situation in Mexico City were of the opinion today that an upheaval may be expected any day in the Mexican capital. That forces are at work against Huerta within the shadow of his palace is known here. It is never possible to predict exactly how events will shape themselves in Mexico, but persons with long experience in Mexican troubles say that the stage is now set in Mexico City for a coup against Huerta. The complexity of this situation has been aggravated, it is said, by the act of Huerta in imprisoning members of congress. It is known that the imprisoned deputies and their friends take the view that Huerta had no legal right to dissolve congress and that its members st li have authority, although not the power at present, of running the government.

Much Depends on Army. Much, if not everything, depends on the loyalty of Huerta's army. That a number of the leaders are ready to desert him because of one reason or another was the report circulated in apparently well informed circles here today. Huerta's opponents say they are determined to prevent as much bloodshed are possible when the coup comes, although he men
